

Abstract:

[0145] The invention provides a session-based bi-directional multi-tier client-server asynchronous information database search and retrieval system for sending a character-by-character string of data to an intelligent server that can be configured to immediately analyze the lengthening string character-by-character and return to the client increasingly appropriate database information as the client sends the string.

5

10
15
20
25
30
35
40
45
50
55
60
65
70
75
80
85
90
95
100